MATTERS ARISING.1 Public Hall Licence

Mr Flack together with the Licensing Officer inspected the hut and it was pointed out that to comply with regulations sloping ramps, emergency lights and crash bars would have to be installed. It was not mentioned whether or not more toilets would be required. Mike Cox felt that emergency lights could be installed, even if we did not apply for a licence, for an approximate cost of £17.50 each (two needed). Emergency lights would run off a 'heavy' battery and Mr Hulley offered to stand the cost of same. Crash barriers only needed on side door (fire exit).
